

José E. Carreon Jr.

BIO

Jose Carreon is the Stakeholder Relations Manager at the North Texas Commission. He is a marketing professional with experience working in the Dallas political, non-profit, and higher education sectors. Jose specializes in multi-cultural storytelling, creative marketing, communications, and video design. He previously worked at Dallas College as Assistant Director of Marketing Campaigns promoting equitable and high-quality higher education, with philanthropist Jorge Baldor as Project Manager and EA promoting the advancement of Latino politics and art in Dallas, and with Representative Victoria Neave in communications. In his free time, Jose enjoys reading, spending time with family, and exploring new cultures. Most recently he went on an excursion to four countries in South America, central Mexico, and Canada. Jose is a proud Pleasant Grove native and graduated from The University of Texas at Austin where he studied Radio, Television, and Film.